Europe Congress Celebrates Resounding Success of the Inaugural Events Club Life Sciences Forum in Madrid, Spain

MADRID, Spain, 2–4 November 2025— Europe Congress proudly announces the successful completion of the first-ever Events Club Life Sciences Forum, held from 2–4 November 2025 at the four-star Meliá Castilla hotel in Madrid. The exclusive, invitation-only B2B event brought together leading life sciences event planners from companies specializing in pharma, biotech, and medical devices, among other life sciences fields, and MICE suppliers from across Europe and beyond for three days of strategic networking and collaboration.

Organised in partnership with the Madrid Convention Bureau, the forum welcomed a choice selection of industry professionals to Madrid. Over the course of 2.5 days, participants engaged in highly productive pre-scheduled one-to-one meetings, thought-provoking panel discussions led by industry leaders, and a series of immersive networking activities showcasing Madrid's unique culture and hospitality.

"It is an honour for the city of Madrid to host this first edition of the Events Club Life Sciences Forum," said David Noack, Director of Madrid Convention Bureau. "Our city, which has a significant infrastructure in the health sector, is the ideal meeting point for those who promote innovation and collaboration in this sector. With modern infrastructure, an unrivalled cultural offering and a spirit that is open to the world, Madrid provides the perfect setting for professionals in the meetings industry to share experiences, knowledge and new ideas."

Attendees also had the opportunity to join a selection of sightseeing activities curated by Nolam Events, including a guided city tour through Madrid's iconic landmarks, a bicycle tour of local markets and cultural spots, a vermouth tasting and cocktail-making session, and an art and wine experience blending. These experiences highlighted Madrid's charm and its ideal setting for MICE events, offering participants an authentic taste of the city's rich heritage.

"We want all attendees to feel the unique energy of a city that combines history and modernity, professionalism and warmth," Noack continued. "We are confident that this event will help consolidate Madrid's role as the epicentre of meetings in the field of health sciences."

The success of this inaugural edition solidifies the Events Club Life Sciences Forum as a new event in the life sciences industry focusing on B2B networking and MICE industry collaboration. The 2026 edition of Events Club Life Sciences will be held in Düsseldorf on 7–9 June. Registration is now open for this productive new event.
